(2.1) If registration of a security interest lapses as a result of a failure to renew the registration or is discharged without authorization or in error and the secured party registers the security interest not later than 30 days after the lapse or discharge, the lapse or discharge does not affect the priority status of the security interest that existed before the lapse or discharge in relation to:

 - (b) an enforcement charge that, immediately before the lapse or discharge, had a subordinate priority position.

but where the secured party enforces a security interest against both the collateral and the proceeds, the amount secured by the security interest in the collateral and the proceeds is limited to the market value of the collateral at the date of the dealing.

(1.1) The limitation of the amount secured by a security interest as provided in subsection (1) does not apply if the collateral is investment property.

(2) A security interest in proceeds is a continuously perfected security interest if the interest in the original collateral is perfected by registration of a financing statement that:

- (a) a security interest in goods that reattaches pursuant to subsection (1); and
- (b) a security interest in goods as after-acquired property that attaches on the return, seizure or repossession of the goods;

if the transferee of the chattel paper would have priority pursuant to subsection 31(7) as to the chattel paper over an interest in the chattel paper claimed by the holder of the security interest in the goods.

(7) A security interest in goods given by a buyer or lessee of the goods mentioned in subsection (1) that attaches while the goods are in the possession of the buyer, lessee or debtor and that is perfected when the goods are returned, seized or repossessed has priority over a security interest in the goods arising pursuant to this section.

 - (b) a non-purchase-money security interest in the product or mass, other than as inventory, given by the same debtor; and

- (c) a non-purchase-money security interest in the product or mass as inventory given by the same debtor if:

Voluntary subordination

40(1) A secured party may, in a security agreement or otherwise, subordinate the secured party's security interest to any other interest, and the subordination is effective according to its terms between the parties and may be enforced by a third party if the third party is the person or one of a class of persons for whose benefit the subordination was intended.

- (2) An agreement or undertaking to postpone or subordinate:
- (a) the right of a person to performance of all or any part of an obligation to the right of another person to the performance of all or any part of another obligation of the same debtor; or
 - (b) all or any part of the rights of a secured party pursuant to a security agreement to all or any part of the rights of another secured party pursuant to another security agreement with the same debtor;

does not, by virtue of the postponement or subordination alone, create a security interest.

1993, cP-6.2, s40.

Rights of assignees

41(1) In this section:

- (a) “account debtor” means a person who is obligated pursuant to an intangible or chattel paper;
- (b) “assignee” includes a secured party who has a security interest in an intangible or chattel paper as original collateral or as proceeds, and a receiver.

(2) Unless the account debtor has made an enforceable agreement not to assert rights, defences or claims arising out of the contract or a closely connected contract, the rights of an assignee of an intangible or chattel paper are subject to:

- (a) the terms of the contract between the account debtor and the assignor that confer on the account debtor a right of contractual set-off or account combination;
- (b) any defence or claim arising out of the contract or a closely connected contract if the account debtor meets the requirements for set-off or abatement of price; and
- (c) any other defence or claim of the account debtor against the assignor, including set-off, that accrues before the account debtor has knowledge of the assignment.

(2.1) Notwithstanding clause (2)(a), the rights of an assignee who acquires a security interest in an account as proceeds of original collateral are not subject to an account debtor's right of contractual set-off or account combination if:

- (a) the assignee gives a notice to the account debtor before the security interest in the account as proceeds arises that:
 - (i) states that the assignee expects to acquire an interest in the account as proceeds of its original collateral; and
 - (ii) provides details of the instrument, money or transfer of funds that will give rise to the account sufficient to permit the account debtor to reasonably ascertain the account transaction to which it relates; and
- (b) the assignee's security interest in the account as proceeds is continuously perfected.

(2.2) Subsection (2.1) does not operate in favour of the assignee if the account debtor acquires, in addition to its rights, defences and claims as account debtor on the account, a security interest in the account that, pursuant to this Part, has priority over the security interest of the assignee.

(2.3) A notice mentioned in subsection (2.1) may be given in accordance with section 68, but only if notice is given to a deposit-taking institution with respect to a deposit account, notice must be given at the branch of account.

(2.4) For purposes of subsection (2.3), the branch of account:

- (a) is the branch of the deposit-taking institution the address or name of which appears on the specimen signature card or other signing authority signed by the assignor with respect to the deposit account or that is designated by agreement between the deposit-taking institution and the assignor at the time of opening of the deposit account;
- (b) if no branch has been identified or agreed on pursuant to clause (a), is the branch that is designated as the branch of account by the deposit-taking institution by notice in writing to the assignor; or

- (c) if neither clause (a) nor (b) applies, is located at the mailing address identified in written communications between the deposit-taking institution and the assignor relating to the deposit account.
- (3) A modification of or substitution for a contract made in good faith and in accordance with reasonable commercial standards and without material adverse effect on the assignee's rights under the contract or the assignor's ability to perform the contract is effective against the assignee unless the account debtor has otherwise agreed.
- (4) Subsection (3) applies:
- (a) to the extent that an assigned right to payment arising out of the contract has not been earned by performance; and
 - (b) notwithstanding that there has been notice of the assignment to the account debtor.
- (5) Where a contract has been substituted or modified in the manner described in subsection (3), the assignee obtains rights that correspond to the rights of the assignor under the substituted or modified contract.
- (6) Nothing in subsections (3) to (5) affects the validity of a term in an assignment agreement that provides that a modification or substitution mentioned in sub-section (3) is a breach of contract by the assignor.
- (7) Where collateral that is an intangible or chattel paper is assigned, the account debtor may make payments pursuant to the contract to the assignor:
- (a) before the account debtor receives a notice that:
 - (i) states that the amount payable or to become payable pursuant to the contract has been assigned and that payment is to be made to the assignee; and
 - (ii) identifies the contract pursuant to which the amount payable is to become payable; or
 - (b) after:
 - (i) the account debtor requests the assignee to furnish proof of the assignment; and
 - (ii) the assignee fails to furnish proof within 15 days after the day of the request.
- (8) Payment by an account debtor to an assignee pursuant to a notice mentioned in clause (7)(a) discharges the obligation of the account debtor to the extent of the payment.
- (9) A term in a contract between a debtor on an account or on chattel paper and an assignor that prohibits or restricts assignment of the whole of the account or chattel paper for money due or to become due:
- (a) is binding on the assignor, but only to the extent of making the assignor liable in damages for breach of contract; and
 - (b) is unenforceable against third parties.

- (5) This section does not apply to a registration made in the Land Titles Registry pursuant to section 49.

Action against Crown

52(1) A person may bring an action against the Crown to recover loss or damage suffered by that person because of an error or omission in the operation of the registry if the loss or damage resulted:

- (a) from reliance on a printed search result issued by the registry; or
 - (b) except as provided in subsections 42.4(2), 43(3) and 43(10) and section 43.1, from the failure of the registrar to register a printed financing statement submitted for registration pursuant to section 43.
- (2) The Crown or any person acting on behalf of the Crown is not liable, directly or vicariously, for loss or damage suffered by a person because of:
- (a) oral advice given by an agent or employee of the Crown with respect to this Act, the regulations or the operation of the registry, unless the person who brings the actions proves that the agent or employee was not acting in good faith; or
 - (b) a failure to register, or to register correctly, a financing statement in the form of electronic data that is transmitted to the registry for the purpose of effecting a registration.
- (3) For the purpose of applying The Limitations Act to a claim pursuant to subsection (1), the day on which the act or omission on which the claim is based takes place is:
- (a) the day on which the search result was issued, in the case of an action brought pursuant to clause (1)(a); or
 - (b) the day on which the financing statement was submitted for registration, in the case of an action brought pursuant to clause (1)(b).
- (4) Except as otherwise provided in this Act, no action or proceeding lies or shall be commenced against the Crown, the minister, the registrar, any deputy registrar, any other person authorized to act on behalf of the registrar pursuant to subsection 42.2(6) or any employee of the Crown if that person is acting pursuant to the authority of this Act, the regulations or any other Act, for anything in good faith done, caused or permitted or authorized to be done, attempted to be done or omitted to be done by that person or by any of those persons pursuant to or in the exercise or supposed exercise of any power conferred by this Act, the regulations or any other Act or in the carrying out or supposed carrying out of any responsibility imposed by this Act, the regulations or any other Act.

Action where trust indentures involved

53(1) An action for recovery of damages pursuant to section 52 brought by a trustee pursuant to a trust indenture or by a person with an interest in a trust indenture shall be brought on behalf of all persons with interests in the same trust indenture, and the judgment in the action, except to the extent that it provides for a subsequent determination of the amount of damages suffered by each person, constitutes a judgment between each person and the Crown with respect to each error or omission.

(2) In an action brought by a trustee pursuant to a trust indenture or by a person with an interest in a trust indenture, proof that each person relied on the search result is not necessary if it is established that the trustee relied on the search result, but no person is entitled to recover damages pursuant to this section if the person knows at the time of acquisition of an interest in the collateral that the search result relied on by the trustee is incorrect.

(3) In proceedings pursuant to this section, the court may make any order that it considers appropriate in order to give notice to the persons with interests in the same trust indenture.

(4) Subject to subsection 54(1), the court may order payment of all or a portion of the damages awarded to identified persons with interests in the same trust indenture at any time after judgment, and the obligation of the Crown to satisfy the judgment is discharged to the extent that payment is made.

Payment of claim for loss

54(1) The total amount recoverable in a single action pursuant to section 52, and the total amount recoverable for all claims in a single action pursuant to section 53, shall not exceed a prescribed amount.

(2) Where damages are paid to a claimant pursuant to section 52 or 53, the Crown is subrogated to the rights of the claimant against any person indebted to the claimant whose debt to the claimant was the basis of the loss or damage with respect to which the claim was paid.

(3) Where a claimant recovers pursuant to section 52 or 53 an amount that is less than the value of the interest the claimant would have had if the error or omission had not occurred, the right of subrogation pursuant to subsection (2) does not prejudice the right of the claimant to recover in priority to the Crown an amount equal to the difference between the amount paid to the claimant and the value of the interest the claimant would have had if the error or omission had not occurred.

(4) The Crown may, without action being brought, pay the amount of a claim against the Crown when authorized to do so by the minister on the report of the registrar setting out the facts and the opinion of the registrar that the claim is just and reasonable.

(5) Subject to subsection (1), where an award of damages has been made in favour of a claimant and the time for appeal has expired, or where an appeal is taken and it is disposed of in whole or in part in favour of the claimant, the Crown shall pay the amount specified in the judgment in a manner specified in the judgment, including the costs of the claimant if the judgment so provides.

- (a) without limiting the secured party’s rights, remedies and duties with respect to the land, proceed pursuant to this Part as to the personal property; or
- (b) proceed as to both the land and the personal property, in which case:
 - (i) the secured party’s rights, remedies and duties with respect to the land apply to the personal property, with any necessary modification, as if the personal property were land; and

(5) Clause (4)(b) does not limit the rights of a secured party who has a security interest in the personal property that is taken before or after the security interest mentioned in subsection (4), and the secured party:

(7) A security interest does not merge merely because a secured party has reduced the claim to judgment.

(8) Notwithstanding anything contained in this or any other Act or any agreement to the contrary, but subject to subsection (14), a debtor has the right to claim as exempt from seizure and sale under a security agreement or this Part the items of personal property that the debtor would be entitled to claim as exempt from enforcement of a money judgment pursuant to clauses 93(1)(a) to (f), (j) and (l) of The Enforcement of Money Judgments Act if the debtor were a judgment debtor.

(9) On seizure of property mentioned in subsection (8), the secured party shall serve on the debtor a written notice containing:

- (a) a description of the debtor's right:
 - (i) to claim the seized property as exempt from seizure and sale; and
 - (ii) to claim payments mentioned in subsection (13); and
- (b) a statement outlining the procedure for claiming an exemption.

(10) Within five business days after receiving the notice mentioned in subsection (9), a debtor who intends to exercise a right of exemption shall serve on the secured party a signed notice of exemption claim.

(11) Within 10 days after receiving a notice of exemption claim, the secured party shall:

- (a) accept or reject the claim; and
- (b) notify the debtor of the secured party's decision.

(12) If the secured party accepts an exemption claim, the secured party shall release the property claimed from seizure.

(13) If an item of property that the debtor is entitled to claim as exempt as provided in subsection (8) is damaged, destroyed or expropriated, any insurance proceeds, indemnity payments or compensation payments may be claimed by the debtor as exempt property for the purpose of:

- (a) repairing the property damaged; or
- (b) replacing the destroyed or expropriated property.

(14) Except in the case of food, clothing and bedding, nothing in subsections (8) to (13) applies to a purchase money security interest in property.

(2) Where a security agreement secures an indebtedness and the secured party has dealt with the collateral pursuant to section 57 or has disposed of it in accordance with section 59 or otherwise, any surplus shall, unless otherwise provided by law or by the agreement of all interested parties, be accounted for and paid in the following order to:

- (a) a person who has a subordinate security interest in the collateral and:
 - (i) who, before the distribution of the surplus, registers a financing statement using the name of the debtor or according to the serial number of the collateral if the goods are of a kind that is prescribed as serial numbered goods; or

- (b) any other person with an interest in the surplus, if that person has given a written notice of the interest to the secured party prior to the distribution; and
- (c) the debtor or any other person who is known by the secured party to be an owner of the collateral;

but the priority of the claim of any person mentioned in clauses (a), (b) or (c) is not prejudiced by payment to anyone pursuant to this section.

- (a) the debtor or any other person who is known by the secured party to be an owner of the collateral;
- (b) a creditor or person with a security interest in the collateral whose interest is subordinate to that of the secured party, and:

- (c) any other person with an interest in the collateral who has given a written notice to the secured party of that interest prior to the day on which the notice is given to the debtor.

(2) If any person who is entitled to a notice pursuant to subsection (1) and whose interest in the collateral would be adversely affected by the secured party's proposal gives to the secured party a notice of objection within 15 days after giving the notice pursuant to subsection (1), the secured party shall dispose of the collateral pursuant to section 59.

(3) If no notice of objection is given, the secured party is, at the expiration of the 15-day period or periods mentioned in subsection (2), deemed to have irrevocably elected to take the collateral in satisfaction of the obligation secured by it, and is entitled to hold or dispose of the collateral free from all rights and interests of the debtor and from the rights and interests of any person entitled to receive notice pursuant to:

- (a) clause (1)(b); or

(4) The notice required pursuant to subsection (1) may be given in accordance with section 68 or, if it is to be given to a person who has registered a financing statement, by registered mail addressed to the address of the person to whom it is to be given as it appears on the financing statement.

(5) The secured party may request that any person mentioned in subsection (1), other than the debtor, furnish proof of that person's interest and, unless the person furnishes proof not later than 10 days after the secured party's request, the secured party may proceed as if no objection were received from the person.

(6) On application by a secured party, the court may determine that an objection to the proposal of a secured party is ineffective on the ground that:

- (b) the market value of the collateral is less than the total amount owing to the secured party and the costs of disposition.

 - (ii) curing any other default by reason of which the secured party intends to dispose of the collateral; and
 - (iii) paying a sum equal to the reasonable expenses of seizing, repossessing, holding, repairing, processing and preparing the collateral for disposition, if those expenses have actually been incurred by the secured party, and any other reasonable expenses incurred by the secured party in enforcing the security agreement.

cP-6.2

PERSONAL PROPERTY SECURITY, 1993

(2) Unless otherwise agreed, the debtor is not entitled to reinstate a security agreement:

- (a) more than twice, if the security agreement provides for payment in full by the debtor not later than 12 months after the day on which value was given by the secured party; or

- (3) All rights, duties or obligations that arise pursuant to a security agreement, this Act or any other applicable law are to be exercised or discharged in good faith and in a commercially reasonable manner.
- (4) A person does not act in bad faith merely because the person acts with knowledge of the interest of some other person.
- (5) If a person, without reasonable excuse, fails to discharge any duties or obligations imposed on the person by this Act, the person to whom the duty or obligation is owed has a right to recover loss or damage that was reasonably foreseeable as liable to result from the failure.

- (a) fails to comply with obligations set out in subsection 43(12) or section 49 or 50; or
 - (b) fails to comply with obligations set out in section 17 or 18, subsection 58(2) or section 59, 60 or 61, and the collateral is consumer goods;

- (8) In an action for a deficiency, the debtor may raise as a defence the failure of the secured party to comply with an obligation set out in section 17, 18, 59 or 60, but the non-compliance of the secured party limits the secured party's right to the deficiency only to the extent that the non-compliance affects the ability of the debtor to protect the debtor's interest in the collateral or makes the accurate determination of the deficiency impracticable.
- (9) Where a secured party fails to comply with an obligation in section 17, 18, 59 or 60, the onus is on the secured party to show that the failure:
- (a) where the collateral is consumer goods, did not affect the debtor's ability to protect the debtor's interest in the collateral by redemption or reinstatement of the security agreement or otherwise; and
 - (b) did not make the accurate determination of the deficiency impracticable.
- (10) Except as otherwise provided in this Act, a provision in a security agreement or any other agreement that purports to exclude any duty or onus imposed by this Act, or that purports to limit the liability of or the amount of damages recoverable from a person who has failed to discharge any duty or obligation imposed by this Act, is void.
