

Adaptations for Independence - Rental

The Adaptations for Independence – Rental program offers financial assistance to rental property owners to improve accessibility for tenants with low incomes. Requested adaptations will be identified by a qualified healthcare practitioner and help a tenant with a disability live more independently in the home.

Eligible rental property owners can receive up to $23,000 as a forgivable loan. Adaptations completed prior to receiving written approval from Saskatchewan Housing Corporation (SHC) do not qualify. Once approval is granted, work must be completed within six months.

To be eligible, rental owners must:

- rent a unit to tenant with a housing-related disability;
- rent to a tenant whose annual income is below the program limits (see income table);
- have purchased their rental property at least six months before applying for funding;
- have not received maximum funding through a Saskatchewan Housing Corporation (SHC) repair program in the last 15 years; and
- maintain affordable rents based on SHC’s rent schedule throughout the term of the loan (see Monthly Maximum Rents table below).
